

This regulation, causing non-profit associations to receive permission from their own members to communicate with them by fax is an egregious burden. Membership itself should certainly be adequate. It is truly a shame when a "regulation" can do more harm than good. At that point, one can only think of big brothersim or incompetent bureaucrats.